The Butchers' Companion publishing company was incorporated yesterday by William R. Adams, Herman Black and Glenwood W. Curran, with a capital stock of $10,000. The business of the concern is to be the publishing of the Butchers' Companion and a general job printing business. The class leaders of the North Nebraska conference of the Methodist church will meet on Wednesday evening at the South Tenth Street Methodist church to discuss their work. The session will continue Thursday morning, afternoon and evening. This is the first state meeting of class leaders ever held in this part of Nebraska. Joseph Smith, the boy who was brutally assaulted by Officer Cox while selling popular songs, filed a complaint with the mayor yesterday, charging that Officer Cox, without any warrant or authority, struck him and knocked him headlong into the gutter, contrary to the statutes of the state and the peace and dignity of the city. The petitioner prays that the charges may be investi-gated, and upon being established that the officer be punished.

The Hamilton Street Grade.

There was a special meeting of the board of education yesterday to discuss the changing of the grade on Hamilton street in front of the Walnut Hill school. The matter was discussed at some length, but no final action will be taken until the next regular meeting of the board. The matter is now in the hands of the committee on buildings and property. In case the proposed change is made it will leave the school house about fifteen feet above the street, with only a twenty foot front yard and will necessitate the building of a retaining wall if made.

vorce Case.

Another Chapter in the Vick Roy Di-

An affidavit was filed yesterday in support of the application for an injunction in the diorce case of Mirande E. Vick Roy vs Thomas Vick Roy. The affidavit is in support of the application previously filed for an injunction restraining the respondent from removing or concealing the money he is alleged to have deposited in ,bank. The petition sets forth that the Vick Roy homestead in Armadale, Wyandotte county, Kansus, was purchased at the instance and through the sole efforts of Mrs. Vick Roy. She says that she negotiated the sale with the owner of the land and made all thesterms of the contract before letting her husband know anything about it. After he was informed of the negotiations he refused to consent unless the property was transferred to him. She finally con erty was transferred to him. She finally con-sented and paid half the purchase money. When the land was condemned by the radi-road company she conducted all the negotia-tions for a settlement of damages. During all these transactions Vick Rey had agreed to give her one-half the proceeds. She afterwards secured the pay-ment of the damages to Vick Roy with the understanding that she was to receive half, but he has refused to give her any of the money, and deserted her in Denver in 1884 after she had helped support the family by keeping boarders. The afficiavit further states that her property is encumbered and will be keeping boarders. The affidavit further states that her property is encumbered and will be sacriflied unless she can have relief from the court to pay off the encumbrance. She therefore prays that the injunction may be made permanent. Affidavits in support of that of Mrs. Vick Roy, Joseph Vick Roy, A. F. Vick Roy and George Vick Roy, A. F. Vick Roy and George Vick Roy, all sons of the couple, and Samson Church, a resident of Arapahoe county, Colo. These affidavits all state that the father had always acknowledged that Mrs. Vick Roy was entitled to one-haif of all his property, as she had carned it through her efforts, and that if it had not been for her he never would have acquired the property. He had said repeatedly that she should have her share of the property.

F. C. Festner's Will.

The will of the late F. C. Festner was yesterday admitted to probate. The will bequeaths to Mrs. Festner, wife of the deceased, all of the real estate of the deceased, together with the house and furniture of the family residence. The personal property is to be sold at private sale and the widow is to receive one-third of the proceeds. The remainder is to be divided equally between the five children—Julius Theodore, Amelia Wilhelmhun Augusta, Adelia Louisa, Martha Maria Louisa and Louisa Julia. John F, Lehman and Mrs. Festner are named as executor and executrix of the will.

The Jury Failed to Agree.

Judge Helsley and a jury yesterday after neen heard the case of the state against H. B. Crundall, charged with unlawfully entering and trespassing upon the grounds of G. M. Hitchcock, 1619 Capitol avenue. It seems that some time ago Crandall and his wife heard that room rent could be had for nothing some of the buildings on the block conin some of the buildings on the block con-demned for the new postoffice, as nobody, they learned, claimed ownership to them except the government. Acting upon this happy piece of news, the Crandalls moved into one of Hitchrock's buildings, and when Hitchcock found that he couldn't get any rent out of them he had them arrested for trespassing, instead of bringing eviction pro-ceedings of the civil order against them. The jury could not agree and was discharged.
